GOMPERS WILL JOIN SHAFFER.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, is on his way to Pittsburgh to confer with President Shaffer.

He went by way of Washington, and from there will hurry to Pittsburgh to add the steel men in their contest with the Steel Trust.

It is believed that a meeting of the Executive Board of the Federation of Labor will be called in a few days.

President Gompers has not declared himself publicly in regard to his position in the great strike, yet his intimate friends do not hesitate to speak in such a manner as to lead one to believe that President Gompers is in hearty accord with the steel strikers and will do all in his power to assist them.

CLEVELAND MEN ARE IN LINE.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7.—The general strike order issued by President Shaffer was received here early to-day by Vice-President Ward, of the Amalgamated Association. Advisory Board immediately upon the receipt of the order Mr. Ward sent out a call for a meeting of all members of the organization in Cleveland.

At this meeting, which was largely attended, the strike order was read and plans discussed for carrying out the instructions of President Shaffer.

MEN NOT BOUND, SAYS SHAFFER.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—The Amalgamated Association officers were late in reaching the headquarters this morning, having been busy until long after midnight last night.

In reply to the question as to whether he thought the men employed by the Federal Steel Company would come out in support of President Shaffer, he said: "That we leave to the men. They

SAWYER'S WIFE WAS IN PAWN.

No Money to Pay Fare, Spouse Was Held.

A man ran into the Centre Street Court last night with his eyes bulging out like the bull's-eye to a watchman's dark lantern. His tongue was hanging out and his breath was coming puffing. He had a hunted look like a deer chased by hounds.

"I want to see the judge," he cried, and the court policeman conducted him to Magistrate Olmsted.

My name is Herbert Sawyer," said the man. "I'm from Boston. They've got my wife in pawn. Can't get her out. Got no money."

The Magistrate seemed bewildered.

"I don't know what you mean," he said.

"Purse's got my wife. He is holding her till I can pay for her passage on the boat here from Fall River. It's just like this, Judge: My wife and I got on the Puritan at Fall River. They don't take up the tickets till they get to New York.

"Well, when the purse came for our tickets we had second class ones. We didn't have any money. So the purse he says: 'Till just keep your wife. My man, till you make good. So I come on a run up here to get you to get my wife for me. She is the only wife I have, and I can't lose her."

On the strength of this story a summons was issued on the purse. The summons was made returnable in twenty-four hours, and to-day a representative of the law firm of Strong & Cadwallader, of No. 43 Wall street, appeared in place of the purse, for whom it had been issued. He held a conversation with the Magistrate and departed.

E. A. Wadsworth, representing the law firm, said to an Evening World reporter that Mrs. Sawyer simply remained with the baggage, which was held, and there was no attempt to hold the woman. They were finally allowed to go, and she took a small piece of baggage, which they forgot.

WANTED GROVER "REMOVED."

Schillinger Also Said that McKinley Had Robbed Him.

Jacob B. Schillinger, a bookbinder, who has lived at various places along the Bowery, imagined that Grover Cleveland had brutally clubbed him so that his head continually ached and that President McKinley was holding valuable real estate in Washington belonging to him. He proposed to sue Cleveland, for $100,000 and McKinley for $25,000,000. "After can pay well," he said, "because he is the big chief of the trust."

Schillinger sent a letter detailing his grievances to George England, clerk of the Fifth District Court, Brooklyn, who turned the matter over to Capt. Titus. It is the bookbinder wrote of "removing Grover Cleveland."

Detectives Finesen and Granville arrested him on No. 275 Bowery. He had on him many letters similar to that sent to Clerk England.

"Take this gentleman down to the Sub-Treasury and tell them to give him a couple of ounces of gold," said Capt. Titus. And Schillinger willingly went along with the detectives, who took him to Centre Street Court, where he was committed. He is considered a dangerous "crank."

SADIE MONTAGUE SEEKS SEPARATION

Spouse of Pretty Casino Girl Has Been Missing for Some Time.

SADIE MONTAGUE

Sadie Montague, a member of the New York Casino Company, seeks a separation from her husband, William T. Rock, the head of the Manhattan Moving Picture Syndicate, on the ground of abandonment and non-support. Papers will be served through her attorney, Rufus L. Perry.

LEAPED TO DEATH FROM HOSPITAL.

Albany Man Became Crazy and Committed Suicide at the Presbyterian Institution.

While temporarily insane, Allen A. Hinman, of No. 12 Chestnut street, Albany, jumped from the third-story window of the Presbyterian Hospital this afternoon and was instantly killed. His skull was crushed on the stone pavement and he was internally injured.

Hinman was taken to the hospital late last night. The friends who came with him said he was troubled with stomach complaint. The doctors had not yet made the diagnosis of his case this morning.

While Dr. Williams, the house physician, was examining another patient,

Miss Sadie Montague's name was Anne E. Paterson and she was a much admired member of the chorus for three years. It was when she was playing at the Casino, that Rock is said to have been smitten with her charms. In Aug., 1901, she instituted an action against him for $100,000. The case was subsequently compromised.

Sadie says she returned home a short time ago and found her husband missing and the contents of her handbag furnished flat in Harlem gone. She has been unable to locate Rock.

There was a big shake-up in the New York baseball team to-day. Every one of the Giants, from Capt. Davis to the utility men, was hauled over the coals with no gentle hands by President Freedman, and it is not unlikely that "Burrhead" Joyce will succeed George Davis as manager of the team. President Freedman would not say that he had deposed Davis, nor would he say that he had not secured Joyce to take Davis's place.

"I am leaving for Europe to-morrow and I have left instructions concerning the team which will be carried out to-morrow or next day," said President Freedman.

"Davis has not handled the team in a satisfactory way. He has been too lenient with the men and has one of the inmates cried out that Hinman was running to the window. Before the doctor could reach him he was gone.

Dr. Fisher, the superintendent of the hospital, said this afternoon that none of the physicians had any idea that Hinman was not in his right mind or they would have maintained a close watch of him.

The body will be kept at the hospital till the relatives of the man can be heard from. He was thirty-two years old.

INDICTED TWO BANK WRECKERS

TWENTY NEW POLICEMEN APPOINTED BY MURPHY

Police Commissioner Murphy made the announcement late afternoon that he had appointed the first long list of new policemen he has lately appointed on probation by adding twenty more.

This is considered a significant move in view of the fact that the Commissioner yesterday morning announced the adoption of the three platoon system, and that it would not involve the employment of one more man.

President Freedman Shakes Up His Ball Players Before Starting for Europe.

MAY SQUEAL ON DIAMOND.

Wardman Bissert, It Is Thought, Will Make Clean Breast of Police Corruption.

CAPT. T. J. DIAMOND.

The expected prosecution of Capt. Diamond, of the East Fifth street station, has been inaugurated, and if the opinion of the wise is correct an important instrument of the prosecution will be the convicted wardman, Bissert.

Developments to-day give color to the report that Bissert has turned State's evidence.

The Police Department is stated, for all signs point to an impending legal investigation of the whole force.

Capt. Diamond called at the office of Abraham Levy in the Pulitzer Building to-day and had a long talk with the lawyer.

At the conclusion of the conference he was approached by an Evening World reporter. He was disposed to talk, but said that Mr. Levy had advised him to keep his mouth shut.

"Acting on Mr. Levy's advice," said Capt. Diamond, "I will not say a word for publication to anybody."

The developments spoken of above were as follows:

Diamond to Be Arrested.
By direction of District-Attorney Philbin, Assistant District-Attorney Gans has prepared a complaint against Capt. Diamond, of the East Fifth street station, charging neglect of police duty.

At the request of District-Attorney Philbin, Becrley Goff to-day deferred the imposition of sentence upon the diamond-convicted wardman, Bissert, until Monday.

The complaint against Capt. Diamond had been expected; the postponement of the fixing of Bissert's punishment was a surprise.

That there is a connection, and a close one, between the two occurrences is admitted in the District-Attorney's office.

Bissert to Tell All?
The nature of the connection can only be surmised, but the prevalent impression among those familiar with the matter is that Bissert, influenced by promises of a light sentence, has consented to give evidence against his former Captain.

It is a significant fact that Monday has been set as the day on which the charges against Capt. Diamond will be submitted to a magistrate, and that Monday has been set as the day upon which Bissert will be sentenced.

Nothing since the beginning of the prosecution of Bissert has caused so much excitement in police circles as this latest move on the part of the District-Attorney.

Wholesale Bribery.
All sorts of rumors are in circulation. It is said that the District-Attorney has the affidavits of many lawbreakers who assert that they have given bribes to the police and that the prosecution of diamond is the entering wedge of a wholesale overhauling of the Police Department.

This view is not taken by Police Commissioner Murphy. He appeared to be pleased when told by an Evening World reporter of the postponement in the Bissert case. He regards it as a point in favor of the Police Department.

"So they've postponed sentence," he said. "That's good; that's fine."

The Diamond Charges.
The charges against Diamond are based upon his own admissions made on the witness-stand during the trial of Bissert.

Report that the Federal Grand Jury Has Moved Against Men Concerned in the Seventh National's Collapse—Gen. Burnett Reticent About Matter.

It was reported this afternoon that the Federal Grand Jury had found indictments against two persons concerned in the collapse of the Seventh National Bank and the operations of Marquand & Co., which precipitated the disaster.

Frank B. Poor, of Marquand & Co., was questioned several days ago and gave testimony regarding the over-certification.

Henry Marquand, head of the firm, was called before the inquirers this morning, and, it is said, pleaded ignorance of the particular point under investigation. It is understood that Mr. Marquand advanced the information that the firm starting with a capital of $10,000, made in the first year $100,000; in the second $300,000, and had done good business ever since.

The Grand Jury adjourned until Aug. 23, when the Seventh National investigation will be vigorously gone into. This matter, it is said, has been considered at no great depth as yet. The Grand Jury has been anxious to secure the attendance of Fletcher Heath, brother of Perry Heath, an official of the bank. It is understood that Mr. Heath is somewhere in New England, but as yet it has been impossible to find a trace of him.

Shortly after noon Gen. Burnett, United States District-Attorney, arrived and was at once ushered into the Grand Jury room. He remained there for about half an hour. Just before 1 o'clock he and his assistants, Capt. W. S. Hall and E. E. Baldwin, departed. The Grand Jury remained about ten minutes later and then adjourned.

Gen. Burnett declined to say a word in regard to the proceedings of the day. He would not say whether all the evidence had already been presented or whether more witnesses would be heard.

ANARCH ART STIRS PATERSON

Public Doesn't Want the Gruesome Red Play Produced.

Whether the local group of Anarchists shall or shall not be allowed to produce a tragedy at Paterson, N. J., on Sunday next is a question that is agitating the mind of the public at present.

The city has been filled with posters by the "Reds" announcing that a four-act tragedy styled "The Assassination of King Humbert" will be produced at the Empire Theatre. In the first act, it is said, the Anarchists will be represented as drawing lots to decide who shall go on the mission of murder.

In the second act Bresset and the Anarchists, who sailed with him will be shown on their way to Italy.

In the third act the scene of the murder will be given and all the details of the assassination will be produced.

The imprisonment of Bresset and the alleged tortures to which he was submitted, ending with his suicide, will comprise the fourth act.

Charges of every denomination are urging Chief of Police Graul not to allow the performance to be given. The posters read: "This is the last act of the United States. The police preserve order."

Chief Graul refuses to say whether or not he will interfere in the matter.
